Antioch High Starts Track Practice With Baseball to Be Later

Schedule Released; League Track Meet To Be at Northbrook

Sixty-five high school boys donned the thinlines and began their track and field practice at Antioch High school this week.

Coach Maurice Kruzan said that a large number of freshmen are trying out this year and that he did not know what the prospects would be until a few days. He said that he had a number of last year's winning track team who will be first-place men this year, but said he would need some second place winners to provide the extra points needed to win meets.

The Northwestern Conference track meet will be at Palatine on Thursday, May 20. It will be a two-day event starting at 6:15 p. m.

The conference golf tourney will be at Barrington Hills Country club at 1 p. m. Monday, May 27.

Attention will be turned to track and golf here first because those seasons end first. Baseball will be considered later.

The senior class of the Antioch High school has chosen as its play "Cracked Nuts," a Baker royalty production written by Jay Tobias.

The comedy will have a cast of 12 characters, seven boys and five girls and tryouts are now in process. The cast will be picked by April 2, rehearsals will start three days later and the play will be given on the nights of May 13 and 14.

Miss Jeannette Darrough, member of the school faculty, will serve as coach.

Success of the play is forecast by the fact that the persons taking part are those who made such a success of the play "Just Ducky," when they were juniors last year.

The calendar appearance of Spring brought with it milder weather and two days of clear skies after one of the most severe winters.

Cold weather starting at Thanksgiving time continued steadily with near zero temperatures lasting until the middle of March.

The ground was frozen so deep that it could not absorb recent rains and as the result streams in this region overflowed. Water stood in fields this week and the low lands south of highway 173, west of the village were all inundated. Highways were damaged by the frost and water.

Clearing weather removed flood dangers for the time being, however. The approach of warm weather is a signal for the lake region to perk up and the next few weekends will see many city residents coming out to open up their summer cottages.

The waters of the lakes are high and many piers are under water. Some ice still remains in the lakes.

The local boys took the first game by default from Wauconda, and went to beat Hebron by the close score of 19 to 18 in the semi-finals. Eight teams participated.

Antioch Grade school's basketball team went to the finals in the Lake Villa invitational basketball tournament last week, losing to Lake Villa 21 to 17 in the last game.

Beaten twice before this year by Lake Villa the Antioch boys put up a hard battle nevertheless, and the victory was not settled until the last moments.

Lake Villa Men's Club To Stage "Springtime Follies" April 9 and 10

To give the Lake County area something entirely different this year The Community Men's Club will stage the "Lake Villa Springtime Follies" April 9 and 10 with an entirely professional cast.

The show will be given in the Lake Villa school at Milwaukee and Grand avenues and will be assembled under the personal direction of John Benson, well-known Chicago theatrical man.

Additionaling of a number of acts is being conducted during the next two weeks by Lester Hamlin, president of the Lake Villa Community Men's club, and Adam Dick, program chairman of the show.

"This being a slack season in the theatrical world," Hamlin told the Antioch News "We are going to be able to sign up many performers of top caliber who are under contract to big night clubs at other times of the year."

Ticket sales are under the direction of William Weber and proceeds from the show will be used to finance the many community projects the Lake Villa Men's Club sponsors. Admission for the Friday and Saturday night performances will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for children, both prices including all taxes.

"We are going to present a big-time show this year that you would have to pay two or three times as much admission in Chicago," Dick announced.

Red Cross Drive Gains Momentum; $565 Collected

With an estimated one-third of solicitations made in the township, a total of $565 had been collected for the Red Cross drive during the week, according to Ed C. Jacobs, chairman.

Jacobs said that the business section of Antioch would be canvassed this afternoon and that he was expecting a large part of the $2200 quota for Antioch township to be collected during the balance of the week. He added that all workers would be contacted on Monday in an effort to get the drive finished by next Wednesday, March 31, when the drive is to end.

Direct contributions may be made to either the First National Bank of Antioch, The State Bank of Antioch, or to Jacobs.

A special meeting of the village board has been called for tomorrow evening when street matters will be given consideration.

Uppermost will be the proposed right-of-way from Orchard st. to the sewage disposal system. The road was sought after it became necessary to get easement for an electric line to supply the disposal plant with power.

A second matter for consideration is the street paralleling Main st. a half block west which will call for reciprocal deed between the village and Charles Ackerman, owner of property along the street. The village is attempting to straighten the road at the Orchard st. intersection and this should be done if the new city building is to be constructed.

Primarily for Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, the place may be used at times by other organizations, but its main purpose is a recreation place for youth.

The steering committee, now that it has complied with Mr. Anderson's initial plan, is anxious to give the community a part in construction work. A meeting will be called within the next ten days when details will be explained.

Richard J. Lyons will be the master of ceremonies for the evening. Entertainment has also been promised. The public is invited.

Roy L. Murrie, 67, of 640 N. Main st., clerk of the village board for 16 years, died at 1 a. m. Monday at St. Therese hospital in Waukegan where he was taken Friday evening after having been stricken to a point of unconsciousness by paralysis.

The funeral service was held at 2 p. m. yesterday at the Strang funeral home with the E. William Strauser of St. Ignatius Episcopal church in charge. Burial was at Hillside cemetery.

Most of the business houses in Antioch were closed during the hour of the funeral and business and professional men were present at the service in large numbers.

Serving as pall bearers were Art Rosenfeldt, Frank Powles, Walter Scott, Elmer Hunter, Elmer Rentner and Laurel D. Powles.

Mr. Murrie was born in Libertyville, July 8, 1880. He lived at Lake Villa for 10 years during a part of which time he served as a mail carrier. He founded and managed the Lake-Cook Farm Supply Co., at Grayslake.

More than a year ago he suffered his second stroke which confined him to his home. He offered his resignation as village clerk, but the board was reluctant to accept it and a substitute was provided.

Previous to becoming clerk of the village board Mr. Murrie served as a trustee on the board and his knowledge of the business of the village was quite thorough. He was a former member of the Antioch fire department.

Member of School Board

His interest in the public schools is seen by his several terms on the grade school board.

He was a member of the Congregational church at Grayslake. Fraternally he was a member of Sequoit Lodge No. 827 A. F. & A. M., and was a past master of the Millburn Lodge No. 127 A. F. & A. M.

ANTIOCH'S LOSS

Antioch lost one of her finest citizens this week in the death of Roy L. Murrie.

Most of Mr. Murrie's 29 years of residence in the village were devoted to public service in one way or another. Sixteen years as clerk, several terms as a member of the grade school board, and membership for a few years on the fire department are direct evidence of his interest in his community.

He knew Antioch and its village business as few did. His many hours of labor with but meager financial compensation were an unselfish devotion to the cause of public welfare. He was punctual, thorough in his work and a great aid to any organization which he served.

Perhaps the outstanding characteristic which endeared him to his many friends was his unflinching sense of humor. His ability to smile his way through difficulty will be remembered. His bravery in fighting for health covered a period of several years, but through all of his sickness he never lost interest in his home village.

Loyalty to his home and the organizations which he served has marked him as a pattern for the younger generation. Antioch needs many more men like Roy L. Murrie.

Real Public Service

Polls have indicated that remarkably large number of people labor under the delusion that stores commonly make twenty-five to fifty per cent profit on the goods they sell. That belief should have thoroughly dissipated by the Congressional inquiry into prices which was held a short time back. Retail stores presented documented, factual evidence, in language which any layman could understand—and they emerged with a clean slate.

One fact developed by the inquiry is that retail profits, on each dollar of business done, are smaller than most of us realize and in many instances are declining. As a typical example, a department store chain presented a breakdown of its costs for the first six months of 1947 as compared with the same period in 1946. Raw materials, operating expenses and all other costs had risen. But profits had dropped, and amounted to less than 3 cents of the consumer dollar.

Retailing hopes to maintain adequate total profits by increasing the volume of business done, not by trying to squeeze the last penny out of each transaction. It is one of the most directly competitive of all enterprises, and the inefficient storekeeper, who tries to gouge his customers soon sees his business going down the street or to the next town. Had it not been for retailing's competitive efficiency, the country would have witnessed price increases far greater than those which have actually occurred. And that, in these days of the dwindling dollar, is a public service of a high order.

Seven Burned

A short time ago, in a farm home near Danville, Iowa, a large family was asleep. At about four in the morning a fire of undetermined origin broke out. No fire equipment was available. Three children and the parents escaped. Seven children, who were sleeping in upstairs bedrooms, perished. The flames spread so rapidly that these children could not be reached by the others awakened.

What happened near Danville has happened, in lesser or greater degree, in thousands of American communities. At the moment you read this, it is probable that fires which will destroy life are in progress. Today fire may strike a long way off from you. Tomorrow it may come home.

A very large percentage of dwelling fires are the result of dangerous heating equipment, particularly old stoves and open fireplaces. Open flame burners count for an appalling number of deaths by asphyxiation. Then, going down the list, electrical and smoking hazards take their grim toll.

The seven children who were cremated alive near Danville are now statistics—tragic evidence of fire's insatiable appetite. A few weeks ago they were alive and happy. How many more lives will fire destroy in this country before we learn that fire prevention is the duty of every family, every owner of a business, and every worker?

The Low Down From Hickory Grove

Are Corporations people—that is the subject I will expound on, in today's lecture—the topic needs airing.

Corporations have been more or less polite and gentlemanly-like and with a disposition to stay out of brawls and arguments. And talkative, political gents noting such a disposition, have made it open season on abuse. And some voters seeming to figure that silence means they are guilty, causes me to waltz out the corporation subject.

Corporations are made up of people who have saved up a few shekels and put 'em in a pot with some others folks and hoping to earn interest on their money by forming an outfit to drill an oil well, start an ice cream factory, built a saw-mill, etc.

If you have an insurance policy—life or fire—and care to see your insurance company remain strong, you are the person to take the spellbinder and his harangue, with a grain of salt. Every policy depends for its backing upon the investments of the insurance company in the bonds and stocks of companies in all kinds of businesses.

Corporations are not a demon to eat us alive—they are YOU and ME. But if you don't give a hoot about the safety of your insurance, then go ahead, cut loose and abuse the corporations, put 'em out of business, and maybe feel better—or worse.

Uncle Sam Says

The kid in upper 4 captured your heart during wartime. In spirit you traveled with him toward his uncertain future on the battlefields. The kid upstairs today is yours. The "kid" may be a freckled boy or a curly haired little girl—your son or daughter who will need your help through savings to find a place in everyday life. The Payroll Savings Plan for buying United States Savings Bonds where you work is the only automatic, safe, profitable way for you to buy bonds by the installment payment method. In this way you can build the nestegg which can make the difference between wishing and having the funds for education and a secure future for your children. If you are self-employed, buy bonds automatically through the Bond-A-Month Plan where you bank.

Oldest Airlines
Oldest airline in the United States is United air lines. Back in 1926 four predecessor companies — Varney air lines, Pacific air transport, Boeing air transport and National air transport—began operation.

Ancient Advertising
Advertising as we know it today is a comparatively recent art. But some forms of advertising are as old as barter and trade. Three thousand years ago signs on papyrus advertising for runaway slaves were hung in the market place of Thebes. The Romans wrote announcements of gladiatorial contests on the walls of their arenas, and ancient innkeepers hung vine leaves over their doors to show they had wine for sale.

Straight Railroad
The longest stretch of railroad without a curve in the United States is the 79 miles of the Seaboard railroad between Wilmington and Hamlet, N. C.

Start of Hitchhiking
Hitchhiking started long before the advent of the automobile. In pioneer days two men often would make a long journey with only one horse. Since riding double for long stretches was uncomfortable, one man would mount and ride while the other started hiking. At a specified time, the rider would stop, hitch the steed to a roadside tree and walk on ahead. Soon the first man would arrive, mount the horse and ride on past the second until his time was up, when he would hitch the animal and go along on foot again.

Coal for Fertilizer
Experiments have shown that some grades of low grade coal found near Moscow, Russia, that is, coal with low caloric and high ash content, can be used with success as organic and mineral fertilizers. For this purpose the coal either is treated with an ammonia solution or is turned into special, more complicated fertilizers.

Iowa sent 45, South Dakota 16, Kansas 31, North Dakota 10, Colorado 5, Wyoming 2, Ohio, Michigan and Indiana 6.

The Friendship Train was sponsored by the Christian Rural Overseas Program (CROP) which consists of Church World Service and Lutheran World Relief. The work of these agencies continues unabated and contributions of clothing may still be left at local churches for overseas shipment. The local drive was sparked by a number of local citizens and organizations with Mr. Herman Holbek acting as general chairman in Antioch.

Contributions to the Friendship Train also included a car load of powdered milk which was contributed by citizens of Lake County. The milk project was sponsored by the Lake County Farm Bureau and received wide support throughout this area.

Engineers Study Gas Consumption

Auto Makers Scan Means of Increasing Mileage For Motor Fuel

DETROIT, MICH.—Realizing that there is a tremendous waste of motor fuel in the U. S. each year, automotive engineers have started to do something about it by steadily increasing engine compressions.

As yet they haven't been able to devise a practical and economical way to get more mileage out of a gallon of gasoline in midsummer than in winter and wasteful driving habits still are going unchecked.

Although there are certain fuel adjustments which may be made in carburetors during the winter and summer, in most instances carburetors are fed as much gasoline in warm weather as they are in sub-freezing temperatures. The use of so-called "octane selectors" does not provide the solution.

Explore Problem.

At a meeting of the Society of Automotive Engineers it was proposed that dual carburetion systems be installed in future automobiles. Feeding high quality gasoline for cold starting, and grade climbing and lesser quality for level surface driving would effect huge savings for automobile owners.

Experiments proved the practicability of dual fuel systems but the major setback is that they add materially to costs already plaguing the average motorist.

New engine heads thru step up the compression ratio are one of the few advances in postwar automobile engines. There have been such things as improved engine mountings and other minor alterations designed to reduce vibration but increased compression appears to be the biggest step toward fuel economy.

Motorists Waste Gas.

According to engineers, millions of gallons of gasoline are wasted annually by the unnecessary use of high test or premium fuels in automobiles that derive absolutely no benefit from them. Not more than 20 percent of the 37 million vehicles on the nation's highways today require premium fuels, the authorities say.

Engine temperature control is among the other plans being considered to save fuel in winter driving. Also, improved distribution of fuel to the various cylinders of the power plant will save gas too.

It is unlikely, however, that new model engines this year will disclose more than increased compression as a fuel-saving development.

Fear Gasoline Rationing.

Many chieftains of industry believe that gasoline rationing would very seriously damage car and truck production and distribution. Some contend that widespread order cancellations would follow any major curtailment in the availability of automobile gasoline.

While many car dealers have refused to accept new orders and others have taken "informal" orders with no down payment, a considerable amount of money is tied up in down payments on unfilled car orders. Some industry sources estimate this amount at upward of $150,000,000. A sizeable part of this sum would be reclaimed by would-be buyers if fuel scarcities limited vacation driving.

Cops Return Escaped Hogs To Glue Factory for Fate

DES MOINES, IOWA.—Policemen here participated in an impromptu roundup after 24 horses rebelled against their fate as contents for a glue-pot and broke out of a glue factory corral.

An excited newspaper carrier salesman telephoned police that two dozen wild horses were running east on Grand avenue. In response to the call a police crew soon trapped ten of the horses at one spot, got four more in a schoolyard and then began rounding up stragglers in ones and twos.

The freedom-seeking horses were taken back to the factory.

Scientists Control Air

Flight of V-2 Rocket

WHITE SANDS, N. M.—The army announced that American scientists succeeded in controlling the flight path of a German V-2 rocket at the White Sands proving grounds. Maj. J. B. Dickey, public relations officer, said the V-2 was kept under control by means of an electronic guidance system developed by a contractor for the army's ordnance department.

He reported that the rocket was maneuvered successfully in movement from right to left and up and down during its flight. It reached an altitude of about 70 miles.

Other officers at the proving grounds pointed out that a "beam guidance control" was used in early stages of V-2 tests but it merely maintained a desired flight path and did not maneuver the V-2.

During the war the Germans were able to have the V-2 rockets follow a predetermined course but could not control the missile in flight.

LIBRARY NOTES—Uncle Remus, Arabian Nights, The Ugly Duckling, Winnie the Pooh—all the gay and amusing stories you read and your children are reading—each has a story about the author and the circumstances under which the tale was written. Aesop, for instance, was a Greek slave who first told his immortal fable to his master's guests; and the Ugly Duckling is really the story of Hans Christian Andersen's life.

"The Story Behind Great Stories" is full of exciting facts about your favorite story. This book was presented to the Antioch Township Library in memory of David Dudley Sexauer.

Children Lack Proper Feeding

Ohioan Claims That Farm Stock Is Better Fed And Cared For

CHICAGO.—Joseph W. Fichter, chairman of the health committee of the National Grange, told members of the third annual conference on rural health that more attention has been given to the care and feeding of farm animals than to the care and feeding of American children.

Fichter pointed out that a nation concerned with world health and giving through the Marshall Plan, should be willing to invest a relatively small amount in the health of its own children if it expected a strong national stock of citizens.

He urged appropriations for state departments of health, for adequate health service throughout the nation and for health supervisors in schools.

Advocates School Lunches.

Other recommendations by Fichter were well-balanced school lunches; lunch periods long enough to permit relaxation and not followed by periods of strenuous exercise; less emphasis on highly competitive interschool athletic contests and special attention to children's mental health.

He stated that much mental illness was caused by worry and frustration because schools didn't offer children opportunities to pursue studies in which they were interested. Fichter asked that means be found to train more doctors to serve rural populations and expressed the opinion that more young people from rural areas should be permitted into medical schools. Rural youths would be more likely to become country doctors than city youths, he contended.

Lists Deficiencies.

Mrs. J. Laning Taylor, director of the educational department of National Co-operative Milk Producers federation, armed with statistics, said that 100 million dollars was urgently needed for expansion of the national school lunch program.

To prove her contention that most American children were malnourished, Mrs. Taylor quoted:

1. "A 12-year continuous study of 10,000 Pennsylvania school children showed that 85 percent failed to exhibit reasonably good nutrition in one of more respects.

2. "In Minnesota a seven-day diet survey of 1,080 pupils in rural, town, suburban and city schools showed that 40.2 percent had poor diets, 32.3 percent fair diets and only 27.6 percent had good diets.

3. "A survey of 200 school children in West Virginia showed 54 percent were getting poor or bad diets.

4. "In a study of Texas school children, about 20 percent of those examined were anemic enough to need medical treatment because of iron deficiency.

5. "A dietary survey of more than 1,100 Maryland schoolchildren revealed that only 8 percent had adequate diet."

Mrs. Taylor terminated her talk with a parting shot at congress for appropriating only 65 million dollars for the national school lunch program.

Children Can Get Social Security Payments Even Though Mother May Not

Children of workers who have died, after working on jobs that come under social security long enough to be "insured," may get monthly payments even though their mothers may not get such payments, Bernard Barnett, manager of the Waukegan, Ill., social security field office said today. No payments can be made, however, unless and until a claim is filed.

Mr. Barnett gave the following example, using fictitious names:

Helen Green was widowed at the age of 26. She was sure any social security payments she might get would not be enough to support the two children and herself, so she got a job immediately with her former employer. She did not even inquire about social security payments, because she knew she could not get a widow's benefit while working on a job that came under social security.

She learned later, however, that the two children could get payments even though she was working—and they are now getting about $40 a month on their father's social security account. Unfortunately, the family lost 3 months' payments—more than $100—because Mrs. Green delayed some 6 months in filing a claim for the children. Benefits can be paid retroactively for only 3 months before the date a claim is filed.

To make sure of getting all the social security benefits that may be payable Mr. Barnett, urged that some member of the family get in touch with his office at the Postoffice Bldg., Waukegan, Ill., whenever a worker dies after having had employment that is covered by the social security. His office is glad to find out whether the deceased worker was insured under social security and, if so, to help the family file a claim for benefits. This help is free of charge. The office is open Monday through Friday from 9:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m.

Protein for Convalescents

Extra calories, vitamins and minerals in the convalescent diet of a surgical patient cannot substitute for adequate amounts of all the 10 essential amino acids found in high quality natural proteins, such as beefsteak, eggs and milk, says American Medical association. Amino acids are chemical compounds which make up protein. In the process of digestion proteins are broken down into these basic elements, which circulate freely in the blood until they recombine to build tissue.

Engineers Study Gas Consumption

Auto Makers Scan Means of Increasing Mileage for Motor Fuel

DETROIT, MICH.—Realizing that there is a tremendous waste of motor fuel in the U. S. each year, automotive engineers have started to do something about it by steadily increasing engine compressions.

As yet they haven't been able to devise a practical and economical way to get more mileage out of a gallon of gasoline in midsummer than in winter and wasteful driving habits still are going unchecked.

Although there are certain fuel adjustments which may be made in carburetors during the winter and summer, in most instances carburetors are fed as much gasoline in warm weather as they are in sub-freezing temperatures. The use of so-called "octane selectors" does not provide the solution.

Explore Problem.

At a meeting of the Society of Automotive Engineers it was proposed that dual carburetion systems be installed in future automobiles. Feeding high quality gasoline for cold starting, and grade climbing and lesser quality for level surface driving would effect huge savings for automobile owners.

Experiments proved the practicability of dual fuel systems but the major setback is that they add materially to costs already plaguing the average motorist.

New engine heads thru step up the compression ratio are one of the few advances in postwar automobile engines. There have been such things as improved engine mountings and other minor alterations designed to reduce vibration but increased compression appears to be the biggest step toward fuel economy.

Motorists Waste Gas.

According to engineers, millions of gallons of gasoline are wasted annually by the unnecessary use of high test or premium fuels in automobiles that derive absolutely no benefit from them. Not more than 20 percent of the 37 million vehicles on the nation's highways today require premium fuels, these authorities say.

Engine temperature control is among the other plans being considered to save fuel in winter driving. Also, improved distribution of fuel to the various cylinders of the power plant will save gas too.

It is unlikely, however, that new model engines this year will disclose more than increased compression as a fuel-saving development.

Fear Gasoline Rationing.

Many chiefs of industry believe that gasoline rationing would very seriously damage car and truck production and distribution. Some contend that widespread order cancellations would follow any major curtailment in the availability of automobile gas line.

While many car dealers have refused to accept new orders and others have taken "informal" orders with no down payment, a considerable amount of money is tied up in down payments on unfilled car orders. Some industry sources estimate this amount at upward of $150,000,000. A sizeable part of this sum would be reclaimed by would-be buyers if fuel scarcities limited vacation driving.

Cops Return Escaped Hogs

To Glue Factory for Fate

DES MOINES, IOWA.—Police here participated in an impromptu roundup after 24 hogs rebelled against their fate as contents for a glue-pot and broke out of a glue factory corral.

An excited newspaper carrier salesman telephoned police that two dozen wild hogs were running east on Grand avenue. In response to the call a police crew soon trapped ten of the hogs at one spot, got four more in a schoolyard and then began rounding up stragglers in ones and twos.

The freedom-seeking hogs were taken back to the factory.

Scientists Control Air

Flight of V-2 Rocket

WHITE SANDS, N. M.—The army announced that American scientists succeeded in controlling the flight of a German V-2 rocket at White Sands proving grounds.

J. B. Dickey, public relations officer, said the V-2 was kept under control by means of an electronic system developed by the army's ordnance department.

It was reported that the rocket was controlled successfully in moving right to left and up and down during its flight. It reached a height of about 70 miles.

Officers at the proving grounds pointed out that a "beam control" was used in early V-2 tests but it merely followed a desired flight path maneuver the V-2.

Now the Germans were able to make the V-2 rockets follow a pre-determined course but could not control the missile in flight.

LIBRARY NOTES—Uncle Remus, Arabian Nights, The Ugly Duckling, Winnie the Pooh—all the gay and amusing stories you read and your children are reading—each has a story about the author and the circumstances under which the tale was written. Aesop, for instance, was a Greek slave who first told his immortal fable to his master's guests; and the Ugly Duckling is really the story of Hans Christian Andersen's life.

"The Story Behind Great Stories" is full of exciting facts about your favorite story. This book was presented to the Antioch Township Library in memory of David Dudley Sexauer.

Children Lack Proper Feeding

Ohioan Claims That Farm Stock Is Better Fed And Cared For

CHICAGO.—Joseph W. Fichter, chairman of the health committee of the National Grange, told members of the third annual conference on rural health that more attention has been given to the care and feeding of farm animals than to the care and feeding of American children. Fichter pointed out that a nation concerned with world health and giving through the Marshall Plan, should be willing to invest a relatively small amount in the health of its own children if it expected a strong national stock of citizens.

He urged appropriations for state departments of health, for adequate health service throughout the nation and for health supervisors in schools.

Advocates School Lunches.

Other recommendations by Fichter were well-balanced school lunches; lunch periods long enough to permit relaxation and not followed by periods of strenuous exercise; less emphasis on highly competitive interschool athletic contests and special attention to children's mental health.

He stated that much mental illness was caused by worry and frustration because schools didn't offer children opportunities to pursue studies in which they were interested. Fichter asked that means be found to train more doctors to serve rural populations and expressed the opinion that more young people from rural areas should be permitted into medical schools. Rural youths would be more likely to become country doctors than city youths, he contended.

Lists Deficiencies.

Mrs. J. Laning Taylor, director of the educational department of National Co-operative Milk Producers federation, armed with statistics, said that 100 million dollars was urgently needed for expansion of the national school lunch program. To prove her contention that most American children were malnourished, Mrs. Taylor quoted:

1. "A 12-year continuous study of 10,000 Pennsylvania school children showed that 85 percent failed to exhibit reasonably good nutrition in one of more respects.

2. "In Minnesota a seven-day diet survey of 1,080 pupils in rural, town, suburban and city schools showed that 40.2 percent had poor diets, 32.3 percent fair diets and only 27.6 percent had good diets.

3. "A survey of 200 school children in West Virginia showed 54 percent were getting poor or bad diets.

4. "In a study of Texas school children, about 20 percent of those examined were anemic enough to need medical treatment because of iron deficiency.

5. "A dietary survey of more than 1,100 Maryland school children revealed that only 3 percent had adequate diet."

Mrs. Taylor terminated her talk with a parting shot at congress for appropriating only 65 million dollars for the national school lunch program.

Children Can Get Social Security Payments Even Though Mother May Not

Children of workers who have died, after working on jobs that come under social security long enough to be "insured," may get monthly payments even though their mothers may not get such payments, Bernard Barnett, manager of the Waukegan, Ill., social security field office said today. No payments can be made, however, unless and until a claim is filed.

Mr. Barnett gave the following example, using fictitious names:

Helen Green was widowed at the age of 26. She was sure any social security payments she might get would not be enough to support the two children and herself, so she got a job immediately with her former employer. She did not even inquire about social security payments, because she knew she could not get a widow's benefit while working on a job that came under social security.

She learned later, however, that the two children could get payments even though she was working—and they are now getting about $40 a month on their father's social security account. Unfortunately, the family lost 3 months' payments—more than $100—because Mrs. Green delayed some 6 months in filing a claim for the children. Benefits can be paid retroactively for only 3 months before the date a claim is filed.

To make sure of getting all the social security benefits that may be payable Mr. Barnett, urged that some member of the family get in touch with his office at the Postoffice Bldg., Waukegan, Ill., whenever a worker dies after having had employment that is covered by the social security. His office is glad to find out whether the deceased worker was insured under social security and, if so, to help the family file a claim for benefits. This help is free of charge. The office is open Monday through Friday from 9:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m.

Protein for Convalescents Extra calories, vitamins and minerals in the convalescent diet of a surgical patient cannot substitute for adequate amounts of all the 10 essential amino acids found in high quality natural proteins, such as beefsteak, eggs and milk, says American Medical association. Amino acids are chemical compounds which make up protein. In the process of digestion proteins are broken down into these basic elements, which circulate freely in the blood until they recombine to build tissue.

Protects Deer From Hunters

Iowa Farmer Permits Herd Of 27 to Roam in His Field with Cattle

MILFORD, IOWA. — Most Iowa farmers want deer only in their smokehouses hanging on a hook but there's one farmer in Iowa who has put out the welcome mat on his 1,000 acres of land for any deer which care to accept his invitation.

His name is John Bush, 72, who lives 7 1/2 miles northwest of Milford, where a herd of 27 deer mingles with his Angus cattle. Bush, who admires deer, estimates that it costs less than 10 cents an acre each season to feed a deer. He claims that the animal is not as destructive to crops as a pheasant but is an asset to a farmer since it helps clear back brush.

Deer are widespread in every Iowa county and frequently farmers request Iowa state conservation officials to reduce herds in their communities.

Insist Deer Are Pests

Many farmers insist that deer eat more than their share of corn and soybeans and oftentimes break fences. But Bush, who knew deer even in his native Scotland, staunchly defends them.

"Deer do not take as much corn as pheasants," he explained. "And what they do eat, they do not shell off as wastefully as pheasants. They don't bother the corn when they can get grass. They don't tramp it down or eat the young plants."

"It's hard to say exactly how much corn the deer will eat but they don't do 10 cents worth of damage to an acre of corn. Furthermore, deer eat buck brush which sheep and cattle won't touch."

The Bush farm has a fine stand of oak timber which offers excellent shelter to the deer.

Trains His Dogs

When he first moved to his farm Bush saw two deer. He ignored them and gradually the deer became accustomed to the man who seemed so interested in the cattle nearby that he paid no attention to them.

In the winter when the ground was frozen the deer accompanied the cattle to the barnyard for food. One day Bush's three well-trained Collies tried to drive the deer along with the cattle but were perplexed when the strangers adeptly jumped over fences to keep out of range. So Bush taught his dogs to ignore the deer.

It wasn't long before the pair of deer spread the good word among other deer and soon the deer population on the Bush farm zoomed up to 12.

Disappoint Visitors

Sight-seeing visitors who come to the Bush farm to see the deer of tentimes are disappointed. Unless the keen-smelling deer are approached from downwind they retreat deeper into the forest. They can be viewed in the evening when they come in with the cattle for food or at odd moments when they bound across a road.

According to Bush the deer provide a homelike atmosphere on his farm. He likes to listen to the clash of antlers when the bucks duel in the spring.

"It sounds like a fight with pitchfork handles when they battle," he said.

Despite the permanently closed season, deer frequently are shot by hunters in this vicinity. The community here has alerted itself and now maintains closer vigilance.

There are between 2,000 and 3,000 deer in Iowa. Most of these trace their ancestry to Ledges park, where a buck and doe named Jack and Babe were introduced in 1928.

Woman Recluse Dies in Home

Jammed With Merchandise

LYNBROOK, L. I. — Elise Mestra Wolff, 43, one of two sisters weighing more than 300 pounds, died of a heart attack in a five-room frame house which she shared with her sister, Edith Wolff, 51, since the death of her father nine years ago.

The sisters lived quietly in the kitchen, the only room which was not crammed with litter. Other rooms were jammed with merchandise, mostly unsalable, that they had moved from the dry goods store that their father had operated for many years.

With no electricity, gas or water, each morning the elder sister would go to a garage next to their home and get a bucketful of water. They cooked by a kerosene range and all shopping was done by neighborhood youngsters. The sisters paid cash for everything and, according to police, had $12,000 in the bank.

Cases, boxes and cartons were piled in every room and only a narrow passage was left between the front door and the kitchen at the rear of the two-story house.

In recent years, the younger sister never left the house while the elder emerged only to draw funds from the bank. While the sisters rarely discarded anything, police said an examination did not turn up any unusually valuable possessions.

The surviving sister, who is in good health, said she would continue to live in the house.

Waters in Idaho

The Snake river is the most prominent river in Idaho. Rising in Yellowstone park, it winds its way through the state until it empties into the Columbia. Shoshone Falls, with a drop of 210 feet, exceeds the height of Niagara Falls. The four largest lakes in Idaho are Priest, Pend d'Oreille, Coeur d'Alene and Bear. The mighty Snake river has been referred to as the "Idaho Nile."

Fast Aviation Growth

Aviation's amazing growth since the 1925 Morrow board report on air policy provides a yardstick of the importance of today's U. S. air policy investigations. Here's the picture—airline fares down 67 per cent; 4,000 times as many passengers; 1,000 times the pilots; 10 times the airports, and planes nearly three times faster than 1925. Today we have about 500,000 pilots, 6,000 airports and speed of 650 mph. About 18 million people paid 4.7 cents per mile airline fare in 1947.

VALVE-IN-HEAD

is far ahead!

Here's why "Valve-in-Head Is Far Ahead" in all-round efficiency

- 1 In the world's champion Chevrolet engine, the valves are located in the head of the cylinder, directly over the pistons... hence the name, Valve-in-Head.
- 2 Valve-in-Head design provides faster intake of fuel mixture... and quicker and more complete exhaust of burned gases... all of which contributes to better performance and economy.
- 3 Valve-in-Head design also permits a more compact combustion chamber; and this, together with Chevrolet's "Blue Flame" combustion, means more driving power for the pistons—less heat loss—and maximum economy.

4 Valve-in-Head engines are inherently easier to cool; and Chevrolet's individual cooling of cylinders prevents waste of power—promotes efficient operation—prolongs engine life.
Moreover, with all of the valve mechanism on top of the engine—and therefore readily accessible—service, though seldom needed, is extraordinarily easy and economical.

CHEVROLET Automotive experts and millions of motorists agree: Valve-in-Head is far ahead because it gives an outstanding combination of performance, endurance, dependability and economy... Chevrolet—master builder of this master motor—has proved this by producing more than 20 million Valve-in-Head engines during the past thirty-seven years—engines which hold the distinction of having delivered more billions of miles of satisfaction, to more owners, over a longer period, than any other power-plant built today! Chevrolet's World's Champion Valve-in-Head engine is another powerful reason why CHEVROLET AND ONLY CHEVROLET IS FIRST... another convincing proof that only Chevrolet gives BIG-CAR QUALITY AT LOWEST COST!

In addition to its World's Champion Valve-in-Head Engine, Chevrolet offers you these other major advantages of Big-Car Quality at Lowest Cost:
BIG-CAR STYLING AND BEAUTY OF BODY BY FINISH
BIG-CAR COMFORT OF THE LIMITED FLEXIBILITY SIDE
BIG-CAR SAFETY OF FIRM UNIFORM CONSTRUCTION AND POSITIVE ACTION INTERLOCKING BEAMS

Cedar Lake Camp Royal Neighbors met Monday afternoon for practice in preparation for initiation of a class of 5 new members at the regular meeting on Tuesday evening, March 30. Members please take notice.

The grade school basketball tournament was held at Lake Villa school gym last Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights with Allendale, Gurnee, Gavin, Fox Lake, Antioch, Hebron and Lake Villa taking part. Mundelein forfeited a game to Lake Zurich and Wauconda forfeited to Antioch. In the finals, Lake Villa won first place, Antioch, second place and Hebron third place.

The Halcyon group held their regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Elsie Midgley, Thursday evening. After a short business meeting the evening was spent in playing games. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Elsie Midgley and Mrs. Elsie Heuer. Jimmie Messler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Messler, entered Victory Memorial hospital on Thursday last week for treatment and passed away quite suddenly Saturday afternoon. His mother, Mrs. Gladys Messler had been a patient at the hospital for sometime and was recuperating at the home of a friend, Mrs. Donnelly, in Waukegan, but was able to visit her son on Saturday. Jimmie was born at Sand Lake and had spent his entire life of sixteen years in this vicinity and attended school here and at Sand Lake. Funeral services were conducted Sunday afternoon at the Peterson funeral home in Waukegan, and Mr. and Mrs. Messler left Sunday evening with the remains for Glasco, Kansas, where funeral services and burial took place on their arrival. Mrs. Messler's family formerly lived there and they have relatives there.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Britton and Mrs. Sidney Barnstable, visited the Louis Barnstable family at Butler, Wis. last Sunday. Mr. Barnstable has been quite ill, but is improving.

Primary Election—April 13, 1948.

"WHERE'S
MY BABY?"

This flash fire was one of Northern Illinois' worst.

Ten families—39 people—had lived where now there were only flame and death.

One of these people was little Rose Brinkman.

Her mother was frantic.

She asked the neighbors.

She asked the policemen.

She asked the firemen.

"Where's my baby?"

"Have you seen the little one—Rose—the baby?"

Then she saw the familiar red and white insignia.

It was a Red Cross worker.

"Have you seen my baby?" She was almost pleading now.

"Your baby's right over there, ma'am," came the reply.

"One of our workers is tending to her in the Red Cross car."

And there, indeed, was little Rose.

The Red Cross had dressed her warmly.

And she was snuggled in a blanket drinking warm milk.

She even smiled a little when her tearful mother reached for her.

brought food, clothes, first aid, and comfort to the victims of fires and disasters
throughout Northern Illinois

Last year, too, Red Cross chapters in this area helped thousands of veterans with the problems of readjustment, brought cheer to thousands more who are hospitalized in this region. They helped the families of thousands of men still in the service to solve personal problems . . .

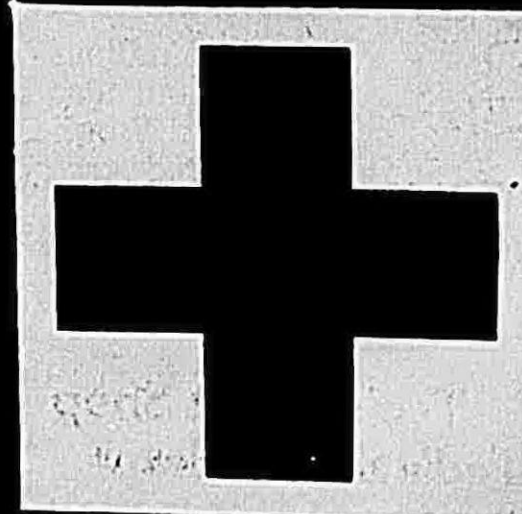

They certificated over 5000 women from Red Cross nursing classes . . . And they taught more than 32,000 people the fundamentals of swimming and water safety.

For obvious reasons, the names used in this typical case history are fictitious.

So that your Red Cross will continue to be Always there when needed most . . .

THE RIGHT MAN

LOOK, Mr. and Mrs. Republican—if you DON'T vote April 13th
YOU'LL send the WRONG MAN to CONGRESS!

Informal polls in the new 13th district show that most responsible people want John Nuveen, Jr., as their Congressman. BUT—the same polls reveal that a high percentage of these people do NOT vote in primaries—even though a Republican primary victory here is equivalent to election.

Organized minorities GET THEIR WAY over the majority BECAUSE THEY VOTE—and they get their friends out to vote.

You have the opportunity April 13 to send a BIG man to Congress—a man who has devoted much of his life to sincere, non-political public service. John Nuveen, Jr. has worked unflinchingly for a better community and a better nation, under no compulsion but that of his own ideals. In Congress, as your elected representative, he'll work for YOU!

You WANT bigger, better men in public office. You've said so—many times. And here is your chance to DO something about it.

Will you spend a few days or a few hours for the good of your district and your country? Will you help get voters out for John Nuveen, Jr.?

It's YOUR district . . . YOUR Congressman . . . YOUR fight. You can WIN that fight over a well-organized minority if you DO YOUR PART between now and April 13.

PRIMARY
APRIL 13

If you'll be out of town on Primary Day, write to your County Clerk before April 8 requesting an absentee ballot. Cook County residents, write Room 230, County Bldg., Chicago. Lake County residents, write County Bldg., Waukegan.
